Yes, have to agree about chicken, we've been way too tolerant. Went to get chicken, but found missing. Suzan and I are in process of hunting bird down...scary when you think of HAL 9000 in 2001: A Space Odyssey or the Alien where the creature breeds with the living bodies of those who it cunningly inhabits. We are dressed now in our fighting outfits. Suzan is in a full length black cocktail sheath dress, pearls, double string and requisite high heel pumps that go click, click when moving about the deck. Myself, I am dressed in white dick trousers, bow tie with button down shirt, blue blazer and brown, highly polished deck shoes. Both with Martini glasses in hand and a small fish net. Suzan and I are making towards the forepeak. However, we are finding that moving about in 4" heels a bit slow and cumbersome. Will report results in next transmission. As for HAL... fortunately chicken has not found him yet! That is why we must work fast.
